

Rackspace Privacy and Data Protection

Help secure sensitive data with managed encryption services.

Rackspace Privacy and Data Protection provides data-at-rest encryption of your databases and confidential files using granular, role-based access controls—a critical part of any overall security program. It can also help you meet control requirements for many compliance regimes, including PCI and HIPAA, without adversely affecting your workflows. This allows you to focus on what you do best, instead of focusing on IT and compliance demands.

Experts Dedicated to Your Success

With Rackspace Privacy and Data Protection, you gain access to a proven managed security service provider, combining best-in-class people, processes and technology.

Rackspace Privacy and Data Protection takes a data-centric approach to securing sensitive data in your hosted environment, providing round-the-clock threat detection that helps to protect you from both external threats and internal process failures.

Key Benefits

Protect sensitive data: Rackspace Privacy and Data Protection deploys technology platforms to restrict access to approved people and processes while generating detailed information about access to sensitive data.

Understand risk: Customers work with Rackspace to document what data they have, how sensitive that data is and where it is stored.

Detailed compliance reporting: Detailed monthly reporting is sent showing data usage and how data is being protected, as well as helping customers meet compliance objectives for most regimens.
